Doing well in this section can give you a major edge, as it is less time-consuming and contributes significantly to your final score.

Top Strategies to Remember Dates, Events, and Facts for CLAT

1. Use Timelines and Chronological Notes

Create timelines for important events, especially for:

- Constitutional amendments
- Landmark Supreme Court judgments
- Historical movements
- International treaties and conferences

Visual representation helps the brain process and store information sequentially, making it easier to recall.

2. Apply Mnemonics and Memory Hooks

Use mnemonics or acronyms to remember lists, events, or dates.

Example: To remember the important fundamental rights, use the acronym “SPERRC” — Speech, Property (repealed), Equality, Religion, Rights, Constitutional Remedies.

Link dates to a personal story or image — the more bizarre or vivid, the better your brain retains it.

3. Use the Loci Method (Memory Palace Technique)

Visualize placing events or dates in a familiar location (like your house or street). Associate each room or spot with a major event. This visual and spatial memory technique is widely used by memory champions.

4. Practice Daily Quizzes and Revisions

Retention improves with active recall. Use daily quiz apps, flashcards, or websites like GKToday, AffairsCloud, or CLAT-specific platforms to test yourself on:

- Important days and themes
- Recent appointments and resignations
- Awards, rankings, legal updates

Set a fixed revision schedule — revisit older notes every 7 or 15 days.

5. Categorize Information

Group data into specific categories:

- International Events
- Indian Politics and Policies
- Legal Developments
- Sports and Awards
